Terms and Conditions

1 Company

All data mentioned in this document are virtual test-data.

The QF-Test CarConfigurator Company is a virtual company which doesn't exist, but is used as seller company in this testing example. All items which are ordered don't exist in real life, so there is no kind of physical or real delivery under any circumstances.

As the company doesn't exist no product which is stated on this document exists. That's just pure test-data and has no use in real life.

2 Test items

As all test items sold by this virtual company are test items which don't exist in reality. Those items simply don't exist.

Copyright agreement of CarConfigurator

The original JCarConfigurator demo provided in the QF-Test installation folder was inspired by the early C++ CarConfigurator demo provided by the company imbus.
